

GR. T LECTURER IS DEAD

Joseph C. Cook Expires in Summer Home in New York

Whitcomb, N. Y., June 28.—Joseph Cook, the distinguished lecturer and author, is dead at his summer home in Ticonderoga. He had been in ill health for several years. Mr. Cook is best remembered by his efforts to show, in his lectures, the harmony of the bible with science. He was born near Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., January 26, 1836. The old homestead, long since demolished, has been replaced by him with a beautiful summer house, and the old farm made one of the richest in the section. His early educational training was such as all the country boys received in those days, but he improved every opportunity and was soon noted for his fondness for reading and study. His academic training, he received at Phillips-Andover at Andover, Mass., and at 20 entered Yale university, but after a two years course ill health compelled him to relinquish his studies. Three years later he entered Harvard in the junior class, and in 1865 was graduated with high honors. Besides obtaining several of the first prizes, he entered the Andover theological seminary, pursuing the usual three years' course, and then devoting a fourth year to special studies. He was licensed to preach there and for three years was pastor of churches at Andover and Lynn, Mass.

Goed to Europe to Study.

In 1871 Mr. Cook went to Europe, where he studied at Halle, Leipzig, Berlin and Heidelberg under such eminent scholars as Tholuck, Julius Muller and Kuno Fischer, and before his return to his native land he traveled quite extensively through Italy, Syria, Egypt, Greece, Turkey and other countries. Upon his return to this country in the latter part of 1873 Mr. Cook took up his residence in Boston, where, early in the spring of 1874, he began a course of "Monday Lectures" in Tremont temple on "The Relations of Religion to Science," which drew large audiences and which, through the publicity given them by the press, soon made him famous. From that time on he delivered similar courses of lectures in any of the principal cities of the north and south.

For twenty years Joseph Cook's lectures were one of the main features of Boston's winter season, and thousands thronged the temple to hear him, drawn by the fluency of his utterances or by the force of his works, which embraced every line of thought in religion, science, politics or economics. Ten years ago he reached the zenith of his fame, but unlike others he did not descend, remaining at his height, as is evidenced by the continued power which he exerted.

In 1878 Mr. Cook's lectures and "preludes" first appeared in book form, and the first sixteen editions were printed. In all thirty editions have been published.

Lecturer of Great Renown.

From 1877 to 1882 he was Chautauqua lecturer, and he appeared as lecturer before many theological institutions during that time. In 1879 he and his wife twice traversed the continent on lecture tours, traveling 12,300 miles and delivering 160 lectures. The following year he made a tour of the world, delivering 135 lectures in Great Britain and scores more in Egypt, India, Japan, China and other countries, employing in many cases an interpreter. He returned home in 1882 and resumed his Boston course of lectures. In 1888 he founded Our Day, a monthly record of review and reform.

Mr. Cook was a formidable logician and he could blend an ironical, unanswerable syllogism with a daring and original metaphor that would take one's breath away, while he could strike one dumb with his logic. He had the ability to reason philosophically and his wonderful mastery of language gave him an exceptional opportunity of impressing people with the profundity of his cogitations. His rhetoric had a disagreeable, strained effect upon people of good taste, yet without he was an earnest reformer and an aggressive Christian, and occupied a distinguished place among men of the time.

A wife (Miss Georgia Hemingway, whom he married in New Haven, Conn., in 1877) survives him.

DYSPEPSIA

"For six years I was a victim of dyspepsia in its worst form. I could eat nothing but milk toast, and at times my stomach would not retain and digest even that. Last March I began taking Cascarets, and since then I have steadily improved, until I am as well as I ever was in my life."

HIS PROPHECY COST HIM $500.

A Kansas River Brother Sold His Wheat Crop for $1.25 an Acre in January.

Scripture-McRae Press Ass'n.
Abilene, Kas., June 28.—Andrew Kropff, the River Brother crop prophet, who for years has been listened to by the farmers of this section, has given up that he was deceived by the wheat promise. Last January he predicted that the wheat would be a failure and on the strength of his belief sold his fifty acres of wheat on the ground for $1.25 an acre. The wheat is filling well and is ready for threshing. The purchasers will make $500. Kropff came to town and admitted that he was wrong in his prediction.

"I am sure," said he, "that the prediction was not from God. It was deceived by Satan and am convinced that the Lord allowed it for my own good, to teach me to keep to myself what He tells me and not to talk so much."

He always has followed his own predictions and is wealthy. A short time ago a neighbor, M. Grice, quoted Scripture to him and Kropff thought it was wrongly given. "I will give you $500 if you can find that in the Bible," said he. The neighbor got a Bible and showed him the text. He came to town and drew $500 out of the bank and paid it over without a word of protest. The neighbor accepted it.

Your Blood Made New.

Your heart beats about sixty thousand times a day. Every drop of blood in your veins visits every part of your body about five hundred times each twenty-four hours. Is it any wonder that many troubles arise when the blood is not right?

Is it hard to understand why health quickly returns when you take a remedy like Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic, a remedy that purifies and enriches the blood?

It does far more than that, because it is the perfect example of everything that "tonic" stands for. But it would be a wonderful remedy if its power to make red, rich blood was its only property. It is far better than so-called blood purifiers because it both makes and purifies the blood.

It is not one of the crude forms of iron that injures the teeth and stomach, but a delicate, harmless form that is almost instantly passed from the stomach to the blood. In the blood it battles against weakness and disease, and helped by the other ingredients of that famous remedy, it rids the system of all impurities and helps each sluggish organ to do its full duty.

If you have skin disease, rheumatism, stomach trouble, nervousness, or if you have any reason to believe that your blood is disordered or that your health is running down, be just to yourself and try this remedy.

Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has for forty-five years been made only by The Dr. Harter Medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio. Sold everywhere.
